PREAMBLE

The North West Department of Community Safety and Transport Management, in its attempt to empower its employees, deemed it necessary to formulate the Employment Equity Policy to enable it to manage equity amongst its employees.

The Constitution guarantees to everyone the fundamental right of equality. The right to equality includes the equality in the social, political and economic spheres of all persons and groups in society. Legislative and other measures have been implemented with a view to eradicating systematic and structural inequalities in society, including inequalities public service employment with a focus on race, gender and disability based disparities.

Despite the removal of the statutory and other formal barriers to entry and advancement within the Public Service since 1994, there are groups of people whose ability to thrive continues to be hampered by this legacy of past discrimination. These groups constitute of black people, women and people with disabilities. The Employment Equity Act, 1998 was enacted in order to ensure the achievement of employment equity through the elimination of unfair discrimination and the implementation of Affirmative Action measures to advance black people, women and people with disabilities who were marginalized and discriminated against with regard to employment opportunities, earning levels, benefits and service conditions.

The Department of Community Safety and Transport Management in the North West Provincial Government ("the Department") accordingly adopts this policy as a framework for:

A review and renewal of its employment equity programme with a view to accelerating progress towards the realization of a discrimination free workplace where no one is denied opportunity for reasons other than ability, and transforming the Department into an employer of choice where women, men and People with Disabilities from diverse racial and other backgrounds enjoy equal chances to serve the nation and are equitably represented in all structures and at all levels.

1. PURPOSE AND OBJECTIVES

1.1 The purpose of this policy is to guide Managers and employees in the Department in the implementation of measures aimed at giving effect to the right to equality as entrenched in the Constitution and legislation by:

- (a) Eliminating all forms of unfair discrimination in employment practices; and
- (b) Implementing affirmative measures that seek to proactively equalize employment opportunities for black people, women and persons with disabilities as a means of eliminating their systematic unfair discrimination and inequality due to historical injustices.

1.2 The policy objectives include:

- (a) Prohibiting and eliminating all forms of unfair discrimination in employment within the Department,
- (b) Recommitting the Department to the implementation of affirmative action and elaborating the Department's holistic approach to affirmative action;
- (c) Ensure accountability for the elimination of discrimination and implementation of affirmative action;
- (d) Providing for internal redress for violations of rights relating to non-discrimination, harassment and other equality elements; and
- (e) Providing a framework for:
 - (i) Identifying and eliminating persisting forms of discrimination and Inequality in the Department as a work place;
 - (ii) Reviewing current affirmative action measures with a view to implementing a comprehensive affirmative action programme that goes beyond numbers and accelerates the realization of employment equity goals in the Department;
 - (iii) Aligning skills development measures with employment equity objectives;
 - (iv) Enhancing departmental compliance with national and international obligations on the promotion of workplace equality and decent work; and
 - (v) Ensuring that all managers and personnel involved in human resources practices that have an impact on workplace equality are held accountable for their action.

2. SCOPE OF APPLICATION

6. PRINCIPLES

- 6.1 The principles that underpin this policy and which should inform its implementation, include the following:
- 6.1.1 The right to equality, which incorporates employment equity or equality in the workplace, is a fundamental human right that is guaranteed in the Constitution of South Africa, National Legislation and the Provincial policy Framework;
- 6.1.2 The social consequences of previously legalized historical injustices underpin entrenched systemic structural inequalities that continue to disadvantage women and people with disabilities in employment, skills acquisition and other areas of life;
- 6.1.3 Giving meaning to the right to equality requires the elimination of unfair discrimination and remedial measures like affirmative action that seek to advance those that continue to be disadvantaged, as a means of equalizing opportunities;

- 6.1.4 Affirmative action or remedial measures as expected in the Constitution and equality laws such as the Employment Equity Act, include but transcend the preferential treatment of suitably qualified women and persons with disabilities, in employment practices such as recruitment, development and promotion;
- 6.1.5 The Employment Equity refers to a combination of non-discrimination, affirmative action and it should enhance effective service delivery;
- 6.1.6 Proper implementation of employment equity necessitates the understanding of skills development as a critical part of affirmative action;
- 6.1.7 The experiences of women, people with disabilities and people affected by HIV/AIDS need to be considered/factored into employment equity planning, implementation and enforcement, and
- 6.1.8 No act of unfair discrimination, sexual harassment or any violation of this policy or applicable equality laws should be treated with impunity.

7. POLICY STATEMENT

- 7.1 The Department commits itself to the realization of employment equity goals as envisaged in Employment Equity Act and the achievement of substantive compliance with all equality laws and policies relating to work place equality;
- 7.2 All employees of the Department have a right to equality, which includes freedom from unfair discrimination and sexual harassment, and incorporates the responsibility of the Department to implement affirmative action measures aimed at advancing historically disadvantaged individuals in order to equalize all employment opportunities;
